Technical Informations

Ignition cable with copper wire core and shielded connectors

The ignition lead consists of a cable with a copper wire core, 7 mm in diameter. The radio interference suppression is built into the spark-plug and distributor sockets. The interference suppression is thus located close to the source of the interference. This system is mainly used by Audi, BMW, Mercedes and VW.

Ignition cable with active resistance

The ignition lead is a cable with carbon-coated fibre glass 7 mm in diameter, or 8 mm in the case of Ford.

The radio interference resistance is calculated as 10-23 k Ohm per 1 mcable.

This system is used by Opel, Ford, Fiat, Alfa Romeo, Mazda, Honda and many others.

Ignition cable with reactance

The ignition lead consists of a cable with carbon-coated fibre glass enclosed with a wire.

The radio interference resistance is calculated as:

2.2 k Ohm per 1 m cable during high-tension operation.

This system is used by, among others, Citroen, Peugeot, Renault, Toyota and Volvo.

General specifications

Ignition cables must convey high tension from the coil to the spark plugs without power dispersion.

In particular the boots (on plug or coil side) must ensure a high level of electric insulation to avoid electric shocks and ignition failure. Cables must ensure not only safety but also good resistance to high under bonnet temperatures, adverse climatic condition, engine vibration and corrosion due to chemical agents (oil, petrol, acids, etc.). In particular recently designed engines, because of the increasing use of electronics devices, of catalytic converters, and of the greater power developed, need highly technological cables which maintain the characteristics required by the manufacturer. As following this high quality concept, we have created a new range of ignition cables kits specific for each type of vehicle. Cables and boots are designed to meet the specific requirements of the main car manufacturers and are in accordance with the highest standards of quality.

Characteristics of new Ignition cables Kits

All ignition cables are produced according to ISO9001 standards and all the materials used are approved and certified ISO 3808 and ISO 6856.

Boots are produced using the same materials of the original equipment (silicone, bakelite, aluminum); the design has been studied for each specific application, to ensure a tight fit onto the cable and a safe connection to spark plugs and coil.

The new range offers various types of ignition cables. The cables, depending from the application, can be as follows:

• Silicone spiral core - 7 mm diameter - C class

A reactor cable for engines which require a low degree of Ohmic impedance. The conductor, in Kevlar, is composed of a stainless steel coil wound round fibre glass. Primary insulator in EPDM and silicon coating. Ohmic resistance between 1,400 and 3,500 Ohm/m.

Resistant to temperatures between -30°C and 155°C.

• Silicone carbon core - 5/7/8 mm diameter - E class

The resistive cable is designed to minimize radio interference (RFI) and to maintain maximum conductivity.

The conductor is composed of layers of highly elastic Fibre glass, uniformly treated with carbon powder and coated with silicone. Primary insulator is in EPDM wrapped in a fibre glass plait to guarantee high mechanical resistance to traction. The silicone external coating provides better resistance to electricity and heat.

Ohmic resistance between 9,000 and 12,000 Ohm/m.

Resistant to temperatures between -40°C and 220°C.

The thinner 5 mm lead is specific for engines fitted in new

Japanese cars while the 8 mm lead is designed for Ford engines.

• Silicone copper core - 7 mm diameter - E class

Tinned copper core cable which does not provide any intrinsic resistance. Resistivity is supplied by the resistors in the caps.

For use in Alfa, Audi, BMW, Mercedes, Seat and Volkswagen cars which adopt this technology in original equipment. Primary insulator is in EPDM wrapped in a fiberglass plait which guarantees high mechanical resistance to traction. The silicone external coating provides better resistance to electricity and heat.

Resistant to temperatures between -40°C and 220°C.

• Silicone spiral core - 7 mm diameter - E class

Spiral cable with Kevlar conductor, primary insulator in EPDM, external coating in silicone.

Ohmic resistance between 1,400 and 3,500 Ohm/m.

Resistant to temperatures between -40°C and 220°C

When and why ignition cables must be changed

Because of ageing and other external agents (breakage of temperature, humidity, petrol, vibrations) the ignition cables progressively lose their original characteristics: the cable gets wear and tear, the boots become porous and terminal oxidize.

When this happens the tension supplied to the spark plugs gets lower and this can cause:

- Difficulties in starting the engine
- Loss of engine power
- Disturbs in radio transmission
- Increase in fuel consumption
- Increase in sooty gas emission
- Carbon deposits on plug electrodes

For better engine performance it is recommended the replacement of ignition cables every 50,000 Km or every 3 years.

Advices on replacement

- Switch engine off and take the key out from the panel.
- To ensure a correct replacement substitute one cable at a time so that the original sequence will be surely respected.
- The cap fitted on the spark plug must be twisted to break any deposit that could be present.
- Lead must be disconnected by pulling the cap, never the cable.
- If necessary clean plug and coil contacts.
- Push the cable firmly onto the spark plug and cap or coil and make sure insulators are properly positioned and watertight.
